

Demography, Asia, South, India, North

- Afzal, M. Inbreeding and selection intensity in a Muslim community from Bihar (India). American Journal of Human Genetics 49: 494.
- Afzal, M. (1988). Consequences of consanguinity on cognitive behaviour. Behaviour Genetics 18: 583-594.
- Agrawal, N., Sinha, S. N. and Jensen, A. R. (1984). Effects of inbreeding on Raven matrices. Behaviour Genetics 14: 579-585.
- Ansari, S. A. and Sinha, S. P. (1978). Survey on the effects of inbreeding in two populations of Bihar. Indian Journal of Medical Research 68: 295-299.
- Badaruddoza, Afzal, M. and Akhtrarzzaman (1994). Inbreeding and congenital heart disease in a North Indian population. Clinical Genetics 45: 288-291.
- Badaruddoza and Atzal, M. (1995). Effects of inbreeding on marriage payment in North India. Journal of Biosocial Science 27: 333-337.
- Bandopadhyay, S. S., Chakravarty, S. K. and Lakshmi, G. R. (1986). Consanguinity among pastoral nomad Gujjars of North Western Uttar Pradesh. Human Science 35: 134-140.
- Basu, S. and Roy, S. (1972). Changes in the frequency of consanguineous marriages among Delhi Muslims after partition. Eastern Anthropologist 25: 21-28.
- Basu, S. K. (1975). Effect of consanguinity among North Indian Muslims. Journal of Population Research 2: 57-68.
- Basu, S. K. (1978). Effects of consanguinity among Muslim groups of India, In Medical genetics in India (eds. Verma, I. C.) 173-187 (Auroma Enterprises, Pondicherry).
- Borgaonkar, D. S. (1990). Prevention of consanguineous marriages in ancient India. Bionature: 1-4.
- Choudhury, A. R., Mukcherjee, M., Sharma, A., Talukder, G. and Ghosh, P. K. (1989). Study of 1,26,266 consecutive births for major congenital defects. Indian Journal of Pediatrics 56: 493-499.
- Corruccini, R. S. and Kaul, S. S. (1990). Halla: Demographic consequences of the partition of the Punjab, 1947. (Lanham: University Press of America, New York and London).
- Das Gupta, P. K. (1964). Marriage among the War Khasi. Man in India 44: 146-160.
- Ghosh, S. (1987). Infant and child mortality. Indian Journal of Pediatrics 24: 613-618.

- Ghosh, S., Bhagara, S. K. and Butani, R. (1985). Congenital malformations in a conditionally studied birth cohort in an urban community. Indian Journal of Medical Research 82: 427-433.
- Ghurye, Y. E. (1936). A note on cross-cousin marriage and dual organization in Kathiawar. Journal of the University of Bombay 5: 88-90.
- Kapadia, K. M. (1958). Marriage and family in India. (Oxford University Press, Calcutta).
- Kashyap, L. K. (1980). Trends of isonomy and inbreeding among the Ahmadiyyas of Kashmir. Journal of Biosocial Science 12: 219-225.
- Krishan, G. (1986). Effect of parental consanguinity on anthropometric measurements among the Sheikh Sunni Muslim boys of Delhi. American Journal of Physical Anthropology 70: 69-73.
- Lanchbury, J. S., Agarwal, S. S. and Papiha, S. S. (1996). Genetic differentiation and population structure of some occupational Caste groups in Uttar Pradesh, India. Human Biology 68: 679-705.
- Mukherjee, A. (1990). Inbreeding effects on bilateral asymmetry of dermatoglyphic patterns. American Journal of Physical Anthropology 81: 77-89.
- Mukherjee, D. P., Badaruddoza and Afzal, M. (1996). Inbreeding effects of fingerprint patterns among Qureshi Muslims and other Indian populations. Journal of Human Ecology 7: 41-44.
- Saifullah, S., Chandra, R. K., Pathak, I. C. and Dhall, G. I. (1967). Congenital malformations in the newborn period. A prospective longitudinal study. Indian Pediatrics 4: 251-261.
- Sarkar, S. S. (1967). Two pedigrees of inbreeding from North India. Man in India 47: 238-243.
- Sinclair, S. (1972). Ethnological factors in mental retardation: a study of 470 cases. Indian Pediatrics 9: 391-396.
- Sinclair, S. (1972). Familial mental retardation and parental consanguinity. Indian Journal of Medical Research 60: 1718-1723.
- Singh, M. and Sharma, N. K. (1980). Spectrum of congenital malformations in the newborn. Indian Journal of Pediatrics 47: 239-244.
- Singh, R. D. (1982). Digital ridge-count variations in some castes of India, In Progress in clinical and biological research (eds. Bartsocas, C. S.) 303-315 (Alan R. Liss, Inc, New York).
- Sudha, T. and Jayam, S. (1993). Pericentric inversion in homologues of chromosome 9. Japanese Journal of Human Genetics 38: 341-343.

Verma, I. C. (1986). Epidemiology of congenital malformations in India and the need for their surveillance. Human Genetics: Proceedings of the 7th International Congress: 588.